MARKET BREAK DOWN

Seminyak is one of Bali's most mature property markets, and 2025 has confirmed both its strengths and its challenges. Leasehold properties account for 83% of stock, villas for 93% of inventory, and supply depth remains substantial across 2- and 3-bedroom segments. The most significant structural shift is the development pipeline contracting sharply to just 9% off-plan from 48% in 2024. That is a dramatic pullback in forward supply, signalling that developers are no longer entering Seminyak at the pace they once were. For existing owners, reduced pipeline pressure is a positive. For buyers, the volume of off-plan choice is narrowing.

The median sale price has held at $299k through 2025, stable month-on-month from January to December, and the market has transacted consistently throughout the year. But discount rates have widened significantly to -17% to -20%, a sharp deterioration from 2024's -6% to -10% range. Buyers are negotiating hard and sellers are increasingly conceding. That widening gap between asking price and transaction price is the defining tension in the Seminyak market right now.

PROPERTY SIZE DISTRIBUTION

DATA FOR LEASEHOLD VILLAS ONLY

Seminyak's defining characteristic is scale, and 2025 confirms it. Median sizes are the largest in this report set: 1-beds at 77 sqm, 2-beds at 140 sqm, 3-beds at 207 sqm, 4-beds at 344 sqm, 5-beds at 445 sqm, and 6-beds at 729 sqm. Demand reflects this, 3-bedroom and larger assets dominate transactions. Lease distribution concentrates at 30 years, with annual pricing from around $10k for 2-beds to above $40k for 6-bedroom stock.

Average occupancy sits at 62% in 2025, above the Bali market average of 54%, though down from 63.9% in 2024. Daily rates have declined across most bedroom types: 3-beds from $266 to $246, 4-beds from $402 to $379. The 6-bedroom segment is the standout exception, improving from $972 to $1,109, premium large-format villas clearly occupy a separate pricing tier. For most of the market, rental revenues face incremental pressure from occupancy and rate softening moving in the same direction simultaneously.
