2025 ANNUAL

REID

LOCATION

Ubud

Gianyar Regency, Bali

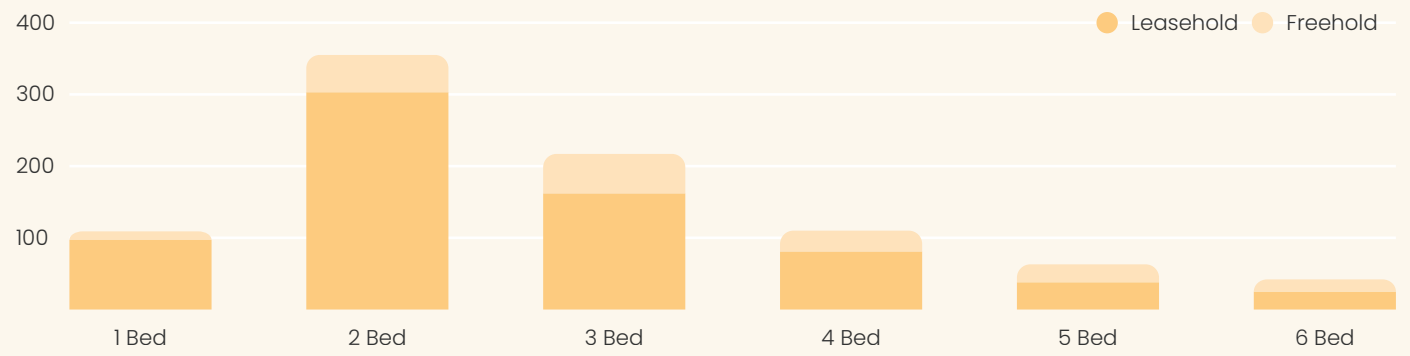

MARKET BREAK DOWN

Ubud operates to a different rhythm than coastal Bali, and its 2025 data reflects that clearly. Leasehold accounts for 78% of stock and villas for 97.9% of inventory, almost exclusively villa-led with minimal apartment presence. The development pipeline has contracted to 21.8% off-plan from 30% in 2024, a measurable slowdown in new project activity. Supply concentrates in 2- and 3-bedroom segments, consistent with prior years.

The median sale price has softened to $291k from $296k in 2024, with monthly pricing trending lower through the year from $298k in January to $292k by December, a consistent directional drift rather than a sharp correction. The standout positive signal in Ubud's 2025 data is the discount rate, which has narrowed dramatically to just -2% to -5% from approximately -10% to -14% in 2024. Buyers and sellers are reaching agreement more efficiently than at any point in recent years, a genuine sign of market maturation. Even as headline prices ease modestly, the convergence of buyer and seller expectations points to a market finding genuine equilibrium.

PROPERTY SIZE DISTRIBUTION

DATA FOR LEASEHOLD VILLAS ONLY

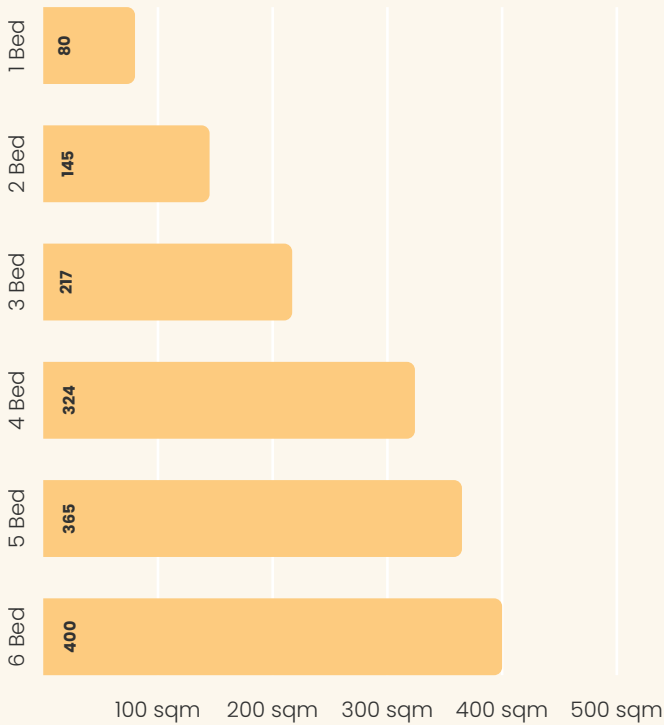

Ubud offers more space per dollar than almost any other market in Bali. Median sizes remain generous: 1-beds at 80 sqm, 2-beds at 145 sqm, 3-beds at 217 sqm, 4-beds at 324 sqm, 5-beds at 365 sqm, and 6-beds at 400 sqm, consistent with 2024 and not being compressed to reduce entry price. Lease distribution is heavily weighted toward 30-year terms. Annual pricing steps from around $5k for 1-beds to $25k-$30k for larger configurations.

The rental picture is the area of most concern. Occupancy has declined to 61% from 66.6% in 2024, a meaningful five-point drop. Ubud held the highest occupancy in the 2024 report set; it no longer does. At 61% it still sits above the Bali market average of 54%, but the trajectory warrants attention.

Daily rates have softened across most bedroom types: 2-beds from $153 to $149, 3-beds from $248 to $224, 4-beds from $343 to $305. Investors should model conservatively on both occupancy and rate assumptions when underwriting Ubud in 2025.
